ES-2 Introduction to Native American Studies

Reactivation of course to include updates to content, SLO's, text, description, delivery, SLO mapping New texts were selected based upon the perspective that they provide on this important topic. Bauer reframes California's Native history by moving away from the typical Mission-era narratives, while Dunbar-Ortiz presents an accessible and accurate account of Native American histories, a history of violence, and Indigenous resistance. The selected texts, together, support a decolonial and interdisciplinary approach to Native American studies. They empower students to critically engage with topics such as history, policy, and environmental justice, as well as Indigenous epistemologies, moving beyond dominant Western frameworks. a. Bauer, W.J. Jr. (2016). California through Native eyes: Reclaiming history. University of Washington Press. ISBN: 9780295998343 b. Dunbar-Ortiz, R. (2014).
